KORBEL BRUT IS TOPS IN AMERICAN CHAMPAGNE

Magazines which reach the most sophisticated audience in the United States unanimously give first place in American Champagnes to KORBEL BRUT
WE didn't say it first! THEY DID!

"THE BEST AMERICAN CHAMPAGNE to date is KORBEL BRUT 1933. Our guess is anyone would think it was imported." —Harper's Bazaar, February, 1941.

"PROBABLY THE MOST CHAMPAGNE-LIKE domestic wine is KORBEL BRUT 1933." —Cue Magazine, December 28, 1940.

"THE OUTSTANDING AMERICAN CHAMPAGNE to date is KORBEL BRUT 1933." —Town and Country, February, 1941.

"EXTREMELY ENJOYABLE, bone-dry and clean-tasting."—The New Yorker, March 15, 1941.

"AMONG THE FEW FINE CALIFORNIA CHAMPAGNES IS KORBEL BRUT, vintage 1933—a special cuvee which has been made as dry as the driest Champagnes for the English market." —St. Regis, Peacock Alley, The Ambassador, Plaza En Passant, The Savoyard, The Ritz Carlton, The Hampshire, The Sherry-Netherlands, Pierrot, January, 1941.

Pedro Domecq wears a White Tie

No formal dinner party would be right without white ties and formal gowns. Nor would it be quite correct without wine—a glass of fine Amontillado, Domecq's Selecto, with the soup, a table wine with the entree, and a mellow, golden cream Sherry, Domecq's Celebration Cream, with the dessert.

Ask your dealer to show you Pedro Domecq's range of Sherries. Your cellar without a noble Sherry like Domecq would be as incomplete as your wardrobe without evening clothes.

The Story of "The Barber of Seville"

ACT I

Rosina, coveted by her mean and suspicious guardian, Dr. Bartolo, because of her wealth, is so closely watched by him that she is forced, against the dictates of her heart, to appear indifferent to the serenading of an unknown admirer who nightly haunts her window. It is the Count Almaviva deeply in love and masquerading as one Lindoro in order that the glamour of his rank may not influence the girl. The rising curtain discloses the Count in his devotional serenade. He is interrupted by the arrival of the loquacious Figaro, barber and general factotum, who recognizes him but is adjured to secrecy. Figaro informs the Count that Rosina is not the daughter, as she long thought, but the ward of Dr. Bartolo who plans immediate marriage with her. Rosina appears on the balcony and drops a note to her serenader. Figaro plots that the Count shall gain entrance by posing as a billeted drunken soldier.

ACT II

Rosina delights in a note from Almaviva, running from the room with it as Bartolo and Basilio enter. The doctor tells his friend that he intends to marry Rosina. Basilio informs him that Count Almaviva, who has asked for her hand, has arrived but the doctor little suspects the identity of the serenader of the night before. The two plot against the Count and plan for the doctor's marriage to Rosina on the morrow. When they leave Rosina returns with Figaro who playfully torments her about the pseudo Lindoro. He explains the plan of their meeting and leaves to aid in its execution. The doctor, returning, accuses Rosina of writing the note and dropping it from the balcony. She glibly and impertinently denies the evidence he offers and enjoys the taunting of him. They are interrupted by the noisy entrance of the disguised Count, pretending to be drunk. The police are called but Almaviva craftily identifies himself and they leave, much to the fury of Bartolo.

ACT III

Through the further conniving of Figaro, Almaviva again gains entrance to Bartolo's house, this time in the guise of a music teacher who pretends he has been sent in place of Basilio whom he reports as being ill. Bartolo suspects that he has seen the man before. To disarm his suspicions the Count gives him a note written by Rosina to Lindoro saying that he had found it and offers to use it to convince Rosina that she is being duped. The music lesson begins. Figaro enters insisting over protest that it is his day to shave Bartolo. There is consternation when Basilio, himself, appears. But he is convinced by them all, and especially by a purse from the Count, that he really is very ill and must return home. To cover the conversation of the lovers, Figaro continues his shaving and chatter to Bartolo. The doctor, suspicious, surprises the young people in their plotting. Realizing he has again been duped he drives the Count from the house. Bartolo then shows Rosina the Count's note and the furious girl consents to their immediate marriage. Figaro and Almaviva enter. He makes known his real identity and when Basilio comes with the notary a second purse secures him as a witness to the marriage of Rosina to the Count instead of the doctor.

.. Let There Be Music ..

Yes, Every Day of the Year, there is Music..

It's the famed EVENING CONCERT, a nightly two-hour program of the world's greatest music as recorded by the finest artists of our time. The EVENING CONCERT is heard nightly from 8 to 10 o'clock.

And, every morning from 11 until noon, there's the MORNING CONCERT, an hour filled with fine recordings; on Sundays from noon until 1:30 there's the SYMPHONIC HOUR, which includes brilliant commentary by Mr. Alfred Frankenstein, KYA music consultant and Chronicle music editor.

Truly, every day of the year there is great music, and it is yours for the dialing.

Then too, there's More For Instance there's . .

The brilliant Opera season program OPERA CURTAIN TIME, exclusive last-minute interviews with the stars themselves direct from the opera house. . . . WINFORMATION, a weekday (10:30 a. m.) woman's program as vital as the WAAC's and WAVES. . . . THE NEWS IN REVIEW, a daily (5 p. m.) news program featuring three men and the two greatest news service reports—Associated Press and International News Service. . . . VICTORY WINDOW, daily interviews with people you want to meet (10:45 a. m.). . . . DUDE MARTIN and his gang (7 a. m. and 6 p. m.) singing and playing traditional music of the West.

18 hours of daily entertainment and news!

*The Masked Ball—"Un Ballo in Maschera"—was written shortly after the attempt on the life of Napoleon III. First called "Gustavo III," after an assassinated Swedish monarch, it carried in its plot a similar murder and its intended presentation in Naples was prohibited. Later it was given in Rome but, in order to meet police requirements, the locale was changed to Colonial America and Gustavo III to Richard "Count" of Warwick and "Governor" of Boston.

The Story of "The Masked Ball"

ACT I

The townsfolk, assembled in the audience chamber, are awaiting their popular Governor, Riccardo. On his arrival he goes over the guest list for a masked ball the next night. Finding the name of Amelia, wife of his friend Renato, he breaks into a rapturous avowal of his love for her. The townspeople leave and Renato enters and warns Riccardo his life is threatened by a conspiracy in his own household. Riccardo laughs at his friend's fears, and turns to receive the Judge, who demands the banishment of Ulrica, a witch. Oscar, the page, pleads for Ulrica, and wins the Governor to look into the matter personally. (Scene 2) Riccardo, disguised, comes alone to the hut of Ulrica. A sailor seeks advice, and is promised speedy good fortune—which Riccardo immediately provides from his own pocket. Amelia enters. She confesses herself in love with her husband's friend and asks for a curative brew. Ulrica tells her that under the hangman's scaffold grows a herb which alone can bring her peace, if she will gather it herself at midnight. The listening Riccardo thus learns that his love is returned. When his friends arrive he is light-hearted but the sibyl is stern. She foretells his early death by a friend "whose hand you next shall take in yours." At this moment Renato enters and warmly grasps the Governor's hand.

ACT II

Amelia is seeking the herb when a shadowy figure startles her. It is Riccardo. The unhappy girl admits her love and begs him to go away. Renato appears! He has come to warn Riccardo of danger. Riccardo commissions him to take the veiled lady back to the city without speaking to her or attempting to learn her identity. The two are stopped by the conspirators against Riccardo, and in the confusion Amelia drops her veil standing revealed before them all.

ACT III

Renato is resolved that death by his hand is the only punishment for Amelia. She protests her innocence in vain. Finally, she asks only to say farewell to her child. With her departure Renato's mood changes. Riccardo is the one who should die. He summons the conspirators, and it is decided to draw lots for the honor of striking the blow. Amelia returning, Renato resolves that her hand shall draw the fatal number. To his great delight he finds himself the chosen man. Into this tense scene Oscar enters with the invitations to the ball. (Scene 2) Riccardo has just signed a document securing Renato an honorable appointment which will take him and Amelia back to England, and in imagination he bids farewell to his beloved. Oscar brings an anonymous letter (from Amelia, of course) warning him that an attempt will be made on his life that evening. (Scene 3) Renato seeks the Governor. Oscar teases him but finally describes Riccardo's costume. Meanwhile the two lovers have found each other. Riccardo is explaining his plan to return her to England, and they are about to take their last farewell when Renato rushes between them and stabs Riccardo to the heart. Riccardo lives long enough to gasp out his and Amelia's innocence, and breathes his last among the sobs of his grief-stricken people.

EXCELLENT WINES

SINCE THE ELEGANT EIGHTIES

FUN IN THE SNOW IN THE "ELEGANT EIGHTIES"
Scientific American, 1886

In the "Elegant Eighties," clothes were fussy. But foods were the finest. Men prided themselves on their palates.

It was for such a discriminating public that the founders of Italian Swiss Colony produced their first, superb California wines. And the reputation gained then has been maintained unbroken throughout sixty years, first by those founders, and now by their sons.

The Italian Swiss Colony name may be a small thing to look for on the wines you buy. But it's a big thing to find.

For it marks wines of unfailing soundness, rare bouquet, and rich flavor . . . wines you can serve with the pride that their sixty-year tradition of excellence deserves.

There is an Italian Swiss Colony Wine to suit every palate, every purse, and every occasion.
