GOOD TASTE
is a tradition at Brooks Brothers

Good Taste in clothing depends on many things...a knowledge of styles and materials, colors and patterns, times and places, customs and conventions. Yet at Brooks Brothers it is as dependable as anything we know...the priceless ingredient we put into everything we make, and demand in everything we buy.

It is this intangible that has made Brooks Brothers not only a name for fine clothing...but for a whole manner of dressing. You will find it reflected in our clothing and furnishings for men and boys in our fine store at Post Street and Grant Avenue.

DEBUTS OF THE WEEK

INGRID BJONER

The first of this week's two American debuts is a young soprano from Kraakstad, Norway, who will be the Elsa in "Lohengrin." Miss Bjoner originally trained to become a pharmacist in Oslo and sang only as a hobby. However, when a wealthy patron discovered her voice, she was sent to Germany for study and returned to Oslo in 1957 for her operatic debut, as Donna Anna in "Don Giovanni."

Miss Bjoner was immediately engaged by the Vienna Staatsoper, where she repeated Donna Anna, and has since sung in Munich, Berlin, and Stuttgart, and is presently a permanent member of the opera in Dusseldorf. She has given concerts in London, Warsaw, and Vancouver, B.C., at the International festival.

Although this is her first visit to the United States, Miss Bjoner was married earlier this month to an American who works in Europe.

FLORIANA CAVALLI

A native of Bologna, Miss Cavalli will be heard for the first time in the United States as "Aida" this Monday. She will also sing with the San Francisco Opera in "Tosca," "La Boheme," and "Simon Boccanegra" in the forthcoming season in Los Angeles.

A beautiful woman, who has turned down many offers to appear in motion pictures, Miss Cavalli has had remarkable success in her to-date brief career. Her debut was made five years ago in "La Traviata" in Ferrara. Since then she has had the honor of opening the Rome Opera season as Desdemona in "Otello" opposite Mario del Monaco and has also starred at the Naples San Carlo.

Her performances of "Aida" have brought Miss Cavalli particular acclaim at the outdoor Baths of Caracalla in Rome and the Arena in Verona.

There are so many advantages to Comstock living...

...Such as having everything—including mail—cared for while you're away

It's not unlike having one's cake and eating it, too. Owning a residence-apartment at The Comstock, we mean.

On one hand you enjoy the dignity of a distinctive private home with superb facilities—at San Francisco's best address: the crest of Nob Hill. At the same time you're free from the responsibilities of home ownership. All details of maintenance and supervision are handled for you. By a professional manager and staff who are on the premises at all times.

So, someone is always on hand to keep an eye on things. Take packages. Park your car. Forward mail, and the like.

Why not investigate the advantages of Comstock living very soon? The typical residence-apartment is open every day, including Saturday and Sunday, from 9:30 A.M. to 5:30 P.M. The address? 1500 North Point Street at Laguna on the Marina.* Luxury residence-apartments from $50,080 to $139,840.

*Or, call WEST 1-3670 to arrange an appointment for a special evening showing.

THE STORY OF "LOHENGRIN"

ACT I—King Henry, come to enlist the aid of the nobles against invading Huns, finds Brabant in chaos. Telramund, appointed as Elsa and Gottfried's guardian by the dying Duke of Brabant, has accused Elsa of fratricide in the mysterious disappearance of her brother. Telramund, breaking his betrothal to her, has married Ortrud and now claims the throne of Brabant. Elsa, summoned by the King to defend herself, affirms her innocence and tells of a visionary knight who will champion her. Three trumpet calls summon Lohengrin who offers himself as her champion and husband, providing she will never ask his name. Elsa agrees and the knight fells Telramund.

ACT II—Upbraided by Telramund for their downfall, Ortrud plots to gain reinstatement by undermining Elsa's faith in Lohengrin. Feigning repentance she goes to Elsa and succeeds in arousing the girl's suspicions. The wedding plans proceed, however, and as Elsa prepares to enter the chapel, Ortrud reappears claiming priority over the bride-elect of a nameless knight. Telramund, too, joins in accusing the knight of sorcery, but to no avail; the wedding procession continues and Elsa and Lohengrin are united.

ACT III—Arriving at the bridal chamber, Elsa, no longer able to withhold her doubts, demands that Lohengrin reveal his identity. At that moment, Telramund enters with four followers, intending to kill Lohengrin but is slain by him instead. Placing Elsa in the care of her ladies, Lohengrin departs for the Oak of Justice to vindicate himself. (Scene 2) Lohengrin, exonerated by the King, is compelled by Elsa's request to reveal his secret. He then discloses himself as the son of Parisfal, Knight of the Holy Grail, and announces that he must return to its guardianship. In parting, Lohengrin reunites Elsa and her brother, but grief-stricken over the loss of her husband, she falls prostrate.

THE STORY OF "LA BOHEME"

ACT I—In their dismal, unheated garret, the poet Rodolfo and the painter Marcello are attempting to keep warm. As the stove is devoid of logs, Rodolfo sacrifices the pages of his play to start a fire. Soon they are joined by the philosopher Colline and the musician Schaunard, the latter bringing fuel, food, wine and money. Their Christmas Eve festivities are interrupted by the entrance of the landlord Benoit, demanding payment of the long overdue rent. The four friends ply him with wine and then, feigning shock at his tales of indiscretion, push him from the room. When the others depart for the Cafe, Rodolfo remains to work but is interrupted by a knock at the door. It is Mimi, an embroideress, requesting a light for her candle. She is suddenly overcome by a fit of coughing and drops her candle and key. Impressed by her beauty, he pockets the key which he finds in order to prolong her stay. He then tells her about himself and she confides in him. Rodolfo's friends are heard calling for him, and at her suggestion, they leave together for the Cafe.

ACT II—Rodolfo and Mimi join their friends at the Cafe Momus. Here Marcello's fickle sweetheart Musetta, in spite of the presence of her rich and elderly admirer Alcindoro, tries to regain the affections of her former lover. Marcello promptly succumbs, and when a parade passes by the cafe he and the other Bohemians fall in behind it, bearing Musetta aloft and leaving their bill to be settled by Alcindoro.

ACT III—At dawn on a wintry morning, Mimi comes to the tavern to get help from Marcello who is living nearby with Musetta. Mimi confesses to him that she wishes to leave Rodolfo because of his jealousy. She hides as Rodolfo appears and tells Marcello his fears for Mimi's health. Mimi overhears and is reassured of her lover's affection. Aware that she has not long to live, she tries to say goodbye but they are temporarily reconciled. Musetta runs from the tavern quarreling with Marcello.

ACT IV—Rodolfo and Marcello, having again separated from their mistresses, are back in their garret studio. They are trying to work but both are lonely and sad. At the entrance of Schaunard and Colline bringing a scant supply of food, their mood brightens. As the four begin to dance and sing, Musetta interrupts with news that the ailing Mimi is outside. The friends help her into the room and leave to buy medicine for her. She and Rodolfo tenderly reaffirm their love. The others return too late, for Mimi, after a fit of coughing, dies leaving Rodolfo heartbroken.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

To Friends of the San Francisco Opera:

Did you realize that ticket sales for last season covered only 84% of our total expenses? A record income from guarantor assessments and contributions to the Opera Fund Drive failed to make up the difference.

As a result, a cumulative deficit of $70,000 has been carried over from the past two seasons.

Current estimates show that, despite the strictest economies our standards will permit, production costs will continue to exceed substantially our regular income.

The 1960 Opera Fund Drive must therefore achieve an unprecedented goal of $150,000 to meet the costs of the current season and avoid the dangers of a cumulative deficit.

Your contribution, whatever the amount, will help to assure your Opera's continued excellence by helping to fill a specific need. A donation of $5 could pay for 30 seconds of precious orchestra rehearsal time; $10 could cover the salaries of 5 supers for one performance; $50 could finance about 12 minutes of a chorus rehearsal; $100 could pay most of the make-up expenses for an entire production; $1,000 could pay the rental for all orchestral music in an average production.

I hope we can count on your friendship and financial support at this time of need.

Sincerely,

Robert Watt Miller
President
San Francisco Opera Association

Contributions are tax-deductible. Checks should be made payable to the San Francisco Opera Association and mailed to the War Memorial Opera House, San Francisco 2.

Have YOU HEARD of Adelaide's?

Adelaide has assembled a collection of practically new garments with famous labels — imports, too — from exclusive shops, worn only a few times by discriminating socialites . . . then brought to Adelaide's where they are cleaned and resold to you. All garments less than a year old. Visit Adelaide's exclusive studio NOW. Prices begin about $35.00. Garments taken on consignment fully insured.
